We meet monthly with a Zoom meeting on the 2nd Wednesday of the month. In-person chapter meetings will replace the collective zoom meetings when it is safe to do so.

Our members range from senior housing, home health industry, health and medical services, referral agencies, technology-based organizations, professional services such as legal and financial and other community-based service organizations. Members include both individuals and organizations and for-profit, non-profit and government agencies. ## About Denver Senior Coalitions

The four Denver Senior Coalition Chapters are networking organizations serving the greater Denver area. Our members range from senior housing, home health industry, health and medical services, referral agencies, technology-based organizations, professional services such as legal and financial and other community-based service organizations. Members include both individuals and organizations and for-profit, non-profit and government agencies.

Our membership dues are based on a calendar year and run from January through December. Dues start at $75 for a "One Person Membership, One Company, ONE Chapter for a year." We also have multi-member and multi-coalition memberships. Most of the funds we raise through membership go to our Joint Coalition Assistance Fund.

The Denver Senior Coalitions' Joint Coalition Assistance Fund (JCAF) receives monies that have been paid as dues to the four Denver Senior Coalition Chapters. Our non-profit members are invited to apply for these funds through an application and vetting process. At our December holiday meeting of the Denver Senior Coalitions, this senior professional networking group shows their holiday spirit and we give away Joint Coalition Assistance Fund awards to deserving organizations that serve older adults. These organizations are selected through an application process and a review process conducted by our board members.

For 2020 the awards went to Audio Information Network of Colorado, Colorado Gerontological Society, Spark the Change and The Argyle Assisted Living. Each of these organizations have programs in place that help older adults directly. Audio Information Network will continue to ship out voice-activated smart speaker devices to those who are hard of hearing. Colorado Gerontological Society will use their award to purchase food for older adults who are unable to use food banks during COVID-19 and/or who have quit working due to COVID-19. Spark the Change launched an iPad Pilot Project in April 2020 to provide iPads to our Senior Companions and their clients. The Argyle Assisted Living are using the funds towards a program to provide each resident with an Amazon Alexa Device for their rooms. *
